

Memoirs of a TUSKEGEE AIRMAN

Meet Harold Brown the WWII Pilot Shot Down and Taken as a POW in 1945!

Truly a limited opportunity for your bus group to hear firsthand stories from 96-year-old WWII Pilot Harold Brown as he recounts his time in combat. On his 30th mission, March 14, 1945, Dr. Brown was shot down over enemy territory, bailing out of his badly damaged P-51 and being taken as a prisoner of war (POW). For six weeks he was kept captive, the possibility of losing his life staring him starkly in the face. Dangers surrounded him, interrogations, friendly fire, as he was forced to walk from one POW camp to another. Harold will share his story including his liberation by Allied forces.

About the Tuskegee Airmen

The Tuskegee Airmen were America's first black military pilots and their support personnel. They are best known for the extraordinary efforts in the air war of World War II and for challenging the stereotypes that had kept black Americans from serving as pilots in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Dr. Harold Brown and his wife Marsha Bordner have written about his full experience in their new book: Keep Your Airspeed Up: The Story of A Tuskegee Airman.

Harold will have his books available for purchase and they can be signed by this American Hero. Brown was one of the 992 original Tuskegee pilots. He is likely the last of his group to record his story.
