

Sport fishermen for generations have been flocking to the Sandusky River, located in Fremont, Ohio to take part in the walleye and white bass spring run fishing phenomenon. This year, make it your new tradition. The spring run is known for producing some of the largest walleye taken from Lake Erie each year. The most consistent success on spring walleye usually occurs in the deep pools that line the Sandusky River between the State Street and Miles Newton Bridges in Fremont. Favorite gear for landing these thrashing lunkers among the rocks is a medium-weight spinning rod and ten-pound-test line. From March 1 through May 1, lures are restricted to those with single hooks, so lead head jigs in a variety of weights and bright colors are the universal favorite. The actual start date is triggered by water temperature so dates may vary. For fishing conditions and regulations, visit: <http://wildlife.ohiodnr.gov>.
